AN EXCEPTIONAL GROUP OF YOUNG ADULTS

Along with more than 76,700 students across the state, our 103 HSC students received their HSC results on Thursday morning. As you read this Celebration (of Year 12) Magazine you will appreciate that the 2018 Year 12 group have performed extremely well in the HSC. The group showed unique commitment and dedication to the values and ideals of the School, at the same time affording special respect for their peers, their parents and the School alike, this alignment always guarantees excellent results. We are all proud of our 2018 HVGS cohort, on achieving our best-ever results in the HSC, and on graduating as the quality young adults they are.

The Sydney Morning Herald publish the HSC school rankings based on Distinguished Achievers (Band 6 performance). This is a very narrow measure of a school's effectiveness and the success of a student, nonetheless it draws great interest. I am pleased to report that HVGS has been ranked 70th (by the SMH) in the state from more than 800 high schools. When we consider ALL the independent schools across NSW outside of Sydney, Newcastle Grammar School and Central Coast Grammar are the only schools ranked higher.

It has been a privilege to share the learning journey with these Year 12 students; I have known many of them for thirteen years, it has been an honour to be part of their school years, to watch them develop, grow and thrive. I wish them all only the very best as they leave our care and continue their journey as young adults; we wish them every possible good thing that life has to offer. I trust that you will enjoy reading this Magazine, a new initiative this year.

My wife Pip and I would like to wish everyone in our community a Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous 2019.

HSC major work
nominations & 2 selections
for ARTEXPRESS

ELKE MITCHELL

Elke has just had her HSC Visual Arts major work selected for ARTEXPRESS, but surprisingly it's the sciences which she enjoyed most at school.

"I really enjoyed biology. I'm very interested in the cause and effect principle that runs through every science subject," says Elke. "I love it when bits of information click together to suddenly make sense. Everything in the course was interesting."

The future is looking very interesting for Elke as she prepares to tackle the next stage of life – a bachelor degree, then master's degree and a career as a neuropsychology researcher. Her advice for students tackling the HSC in future years is to operate with a future self in mind.

"Think about the future and make sure everything 'current you' does makes your future self's life easier," says Elke. "Also, ask lots of questions!"

Elke credits friends, teachers and her parents on giving her the confidence to manage the demands of the HSC. A good dash of self-belief went a long way too!

"Self-belief and self-motivation are so important because at the end of the day it's your brain telling your hand what to write in the exam and that becomes a lot more difficult if you're simultaneously trying to block out negative thoughts," says Elke.

HSC NOMINATIONS

ARTEXPRESS: VISUAL ARTS

Thomas Monnox and Elke Mitchell were nominated and selected for ARTEXPRESS 2019.

GABRIELLA BLISSETT

Gabriella is intending to study Medical Engineering at the University of Newcastle, gain honours, a master's degree and a PHD, with the ultimate career goal - a medical engineer specialising in medical signal analysis or prosthetics.

It sounds like Gabi is going to be very busy in the next few years so it's lucky she enjoys a challenge.

"I really liked the academics at school," says Gabi. "My favourite subject was Maths Extension because everyone is expected to struggle and fail just a bit. It forces us to push ourselves which I found motivating and exhilarating. Because of this I achieved more than I thought possible. I developed the ability to work hard for what I wanted."

Gabi's belief in self-encouragement helped her through the tricky times.

"After the first Year 12 exam, I felt scared and a little defeated. It wasn't my best effort and I wondered if I had just set myself up for a year of failure," says Gabi. "I went home and created a masterpiece on my wall - large yellow letters that read 'I am going to BLITZ the HSC'. Every night as I went to sleep those words helped me find the strength to work harder."

It must have worked because her self-encouragement and self-determination saw her achieve so well in her internal exams, that she has gained un-conditional entry into Medical Engineering at UoN."

KIERAN PARKINSON

“When I was really young, I wanted to be an astronaut. Science has always been a passion of mine and up until Year 10 I wanted to pursue a career in post-Newtonian theoretical physics,” says Kieran. “For now, I’ve decided to focus on a career in law, politics or economics. The only foil to this would be if I get accepted into space engineering at USYD, which I’d probably pursue.”

While Kieran’s keeping his options open in regard to space engineering, it’s the Australian National University and a double degree in a Bachelor of Laws/Bachelor of Politics, Philosophy and Economics which will likely set him up for the future.

While Kieran approached school with an academic mindset, some his most treasured HVGS memories are the non-academic aspects of school life.

“HICES Music Camp was one of the things that I enjoyed most, lots of likeminded people and such,” says Kieran. “Music was enjoyable, but it was probably the people that I got on very well with that made schooling fun.”

For those about to embark on the road to the HSC, he has some sage advice: “There’s no real secret to it. It’s hard, and while complaining might feel therapeutic, just sit down and get on with it. You’re doing it anyway, so might as well make it beneficial.”

We look forward to seeing future Kieran in the courtroom, or perhaps in parliament or maybe studying some far-flung corner of the universe. Watch this ‘space’.
